

Are you a contender for the national planning awards?

The South African Planning Institute (SAPI) is calling for nominations for its prestigious national awards. Awards fall into the following categories:

Category	Broad Criteria
Student	Tertiary level outstanding academic performance in planning and /or innovative and relevant project idea or implementation
Academic/Research	Outstanding contribution to planning education and/or innovative research published
Private Sector	Individual or firm in private practice that enhanced the reputation of the planning profession and designed/implemented high impact planning project/intervention
Public Sector	Individual or organisation that made outstanding contribution to sustainable development outcomes and enhanced public benefit planning
External	Greatest contribution by non-planner to the planning profession or to the cause of public benefit planning
Loyalty/Contribution	Individual (Planner) that has served the profession over a long-period of time and has enhanced the role of planning in public life
Community	A local community that has embarked on exemplary participatory self development and/or outstanding community development project
Municipal	Exemplary formulation and implementation of Integrated Development Planning (IDP) by SA municipality
School	School or learner that has initiated and/or contributed to sustainable development project

Please nominate worthy planners by sending a CV and motivation to Christo Green on:

South African Planning Institute (SAPI)

E-mail: sapi@worldonline.co.za

Nominations close on Friday 6 August 2010. The awards ceremony takes place at the Planning Africa 2010 Conference Dinner on Tuesday, 14th September 2010 at the Nkosi Albert Luthuli International Conference Centre in eThekweni.